MR Dux spans four distinctive series, from compact and flexible designs to taller proportions, premium silicon and layered dual-density constructions. The Original offers accessible, flexible realism across a wide range of sizes. Dual Density combines a supportive core with a softer exterior and bendable positioning. The Silicone Series introduces smooth, flexible designs for solo and shared play, while Silicone Dual Density adds moveable skin for the collector's hot layered realistic feel. Throat plug, harness, harness-compatible options and double-ended designs create more freedom to explore alone or together. Compact or commanding, flexible or supported, choose the mode that feels best to you.

Real sensation lives in the details: the warmth of skin, the soft give beneath your fingers and the way contours and textures respond to touch. Mr. Dix believes realism should feel personal. What feels convincing depends on the shape, scale, material and movement your body responds to. That is why the collection brings together lifelike forms, supple surfaces, supportive cores, bendable constructions and moveable skin. Designed for those who prefer to keep it real, Mr. Dix brings every detail closer to the experience that feels right for you.
